BARACCHE

Bruno Munari

“The BARACCHE project is a suggestion by the instantaneous architectures at the edge of the road and by bric-à-brac constructions.

BARACCHE as a souvenir of the ring road, ephemeral plastic buildings to demolish, corrugated iron roofs and industrial irons. Volumes affected by inaccurate choices, not taken, all to involuntary, random shapes, never equal to themselves. Unique pieces by necessity, grotesque and fascinating. A shock of brutalism and ruins of the commercial mall, without possibility of choice but only acceptance of its own cliché. BARACCHE is the semantic reduction of a house to a caricature.”

Camp Design Gallery

«Camp è soprattutto un modo di godere delle cose, di apprezzarle, non di giudicarle» scrive Gillo Dorfles.

Camp is a contemporary design gallery founded in Milan - Navigli district- by Beatrice Bianco and Valentina Lucio, young gallery owners passionate of aesthetic research.

Camp Design Gallery researches and promotes new young talents in contemporary collectible design.

The concept of camp is an intellectual effort to create "critical texts" through design works, designed as a vehicle for a new culture of beauty.

It is also a way of perception of the art of design and its movement through an ironic sensibility.

The aim of the gallery is to evolve as an incubator of new ideas on contemporary "design expression" through the creation of unique pieces and limited editions in collaboration with the most innovative designers, artists and architects, Italian and international.

This research is mainly accompanied by a dialectic which sees the design projects materializing in sculptures by traditional Italian craftsmanship.
